Dear: Mrs. Campbell Brown, Wolfe Blitzer, Lou Dobbs, John Roberts, Kirn Chetry, Becky Anderson, Larry King

This is my 9th letter to your esteem organization (CNN) as the most trusted cable news media network worldwide. I am corresponding to you based on the daily news reported from CNN. I enjoy and find your eight o'clock program hosted by Campbell Brown very interesting. On Sept.23.08 Senator John McCain's running mate Sara Palin met with three world leaders and Henry Kissinger (U.S citizen and long time republican supporter). She conducted herself very well and in a comfortable manner. She claimed that her meeting went very well, and was quite happy over the outcome. The news media as well as myself are still waiting for details of the meeting and their discussion.

I agree with Campbell Brown on the sexism issue that the news media was using against Sara Palin. A world survey shows that women can be the best and most successful corporate ceo's. We all are familiar with our iron lady Margret Thatcher (prime mimster of UK); she was a very powerful leader of a very powerful country. In my opinion Sara Palin could be the best president of the United States.

Once again I have a concern I would like to express to you. In 1990 Saddam Hussein's extremist behavior resulted in War, namely the Gulf War. I believe it was the right choice to stop Saddam Hussein and re-establish the Kuwaiti Nation, which was victimized when Saddam illegally invaded it. The Gulf War was supported by many countries of the world (including the poorest nation on earth, Bangladesh). I have a great respect for all the nation leaders who showed support and participated in the Gulf War without delay. The U.S and many other countries received their war expense from Iraq through the Iraqi Oil for Food Program. Yet this does not bother me because this war was the cause of Saddam Hussein. Hundreds of thousands of innocent men, women & children suffered and died without proper nutrition and medicine as a result of trading embargo's imposed on Iraq. This resolution was put in effect by the U.S and a few of their allies thru the United Nations. Iraq could not receive anything without the mandatory scrutiny of the UN, not only was what they were allowed to receive limited but it was also not enough for their well being. I believe this blame must fall on Saddam Hussein's head, his misconduct resulted in his nations suffering and I would word it as "It was a sin". At the end he paid the ultimate price.

My point is this, helping other nations is noble and good. Noble & Good, you cannot buy it but you have to pay for it. How did your great nation pay after a successful war under President George Bush senior 41. Portion of the wars cost was paid for by the Iraqi Oil for Food program and the balance was paid by your great nation's innocent tax payers. I believe that the declaration of war was done in a noble fashion not in an evil manner. The wars impact had a severe cost on the U.S economy because the President George Bush 41 and his administration were focusing on the noble war and neglected domestic policy in the areas economy & tax payers well being. He also paid the price when he lost the 1992 election against former Governor & First Lady of Arkansas, Bill Clinton & Hilary R. Clinton. Regardless of completing a successful war in Iraq not against the innocent citizens of Iraq but Saddam Hussein, George Bush 41 with continued popularity lost his re-election against Bill Clinton. The same price was paid in the UK by our Iron Lady Margret Thatcher. She was made to resign and assign John Major as Prime Minister of UK. Later John Major also lost the election against my personal favorite young leader Mr. Tony Blair. He is honest; trustworthy has integrity and a good politician. His decisions are based on the interest of mankind. He also faced a calamity of opposition when George W. Bush convinced him to side with him in the Iraq war 2002. Tony Blair also paid a large price when he also was forced to resign and assign his position to Prime Minister Gordon Brown. Gordon Brown also faced a struggle from the people of the UK. They were unhappy with the many unanswered questions and are not know to be bullied or biased by politicians.

The U.S economy is in a disaster, not because of the Wall Street crisis. But because of Bush's administration as well as the Republican Party, who bully and mislead the Democratic Party, the innocent citizens of the U.S as well as the rest of the world. Credit for this crisis goes to George Bush, Dick Cheney, John McCain, & Joe Liberman. In other words maybe they are right, they will be teaching and educating the U.S people to live their life with reality when they come to the stage of living their lives as a 3rd world country.

Iranian President Mahmoud Ahmadinejad was on Larry King as he presented himself as a most controversial president of the world. He sincerely offered to the U.S and its allies to sit down and have dialogue regarding world peace. I 100% agree with him, the only way for success on world peace is through peaceful negotiations and dialogue. However I do not agree with him on the topic of the Zionist regime, that the Jewish people were put on the Promised Land. The word Promised Land may not have existed but I strongly believe the land (universe) belongs to the creator Almighty God; we human beings are just temporary lease holders. We cannot withhold any human being from having a piece of land regardless of their faith, race, religion & base.

One day I would like to be on Larry King. He is a most well liked and impressive individual who has met hundreds of world leaders. He is one of the most powerful news anchors and yet he maintains good composure as he sits behind his desk. He asks very tough questions to all the leaders he interviews and at times makes them feel discomfort and nervous. Regardless of his tough questions that doesn't give him the political credentials, judgment and choice of his own to be the president of the United States.

Sincerely,

Mahmud Hussein
